Repeat Confessions of Abortion Sin: An Important Issue for the Coming Jubilee Year of Mercy

By Kevin Burke

The comments by Pope Francis on abortion, the sacrament of reconciliation and the Jubilee year of Mercy have caused quite a stir. Most Catholics were not aware of the automatic excommunication penalty associated with abortion. Those who have already confessed the sin of abortion wondered if their sacramental experience was valid. At the close of this article, I will include a clear and reassuring response from Fr Frank Pavone that briefly addresses these concerns.

But I want to use this opportunity to broaden our discussion to include a very common and distressing phenomena associated with abortion and the Sacrament of Reconciliation. I hope this may be helpful for Clergy ministering to those with abortion loss in this coming Jubilee Year of Mercy.

The Common Experience of Repeat Confession after Abortion

Dr Theresa Burke of Rachel's Vineyard has noted for years in her international post abortion outreach, that it is common for women (without the benefit of a healing program) to confess their sin of abortion multiple times. There is a difficulty embracing the grace and forgiveness of the sacrament. Women and men may still struggle after confession with guilt, depression and anxiety. They may still be troubled by an inability to forgive themselves and trust that God really forgives them.

What's going on here?

Abortion is a complicated experience of grief and loss. Along with the abortion of the child, the natural expression of the feelings of grief and mourning and any public expression of the loss of their child are also, in a sense, aborted. The normal social support and religious rituals that help us negotiate the experience of grief and loss are not present after abortion.

Women and men usually want to get as far away from the memories and feelings about their abortion event as soon as possible. This is reinforced by friends and family who tell them it was for the best and you just need to move on. Maybe they do “move on” and try to pick up and carry on with their lives. But they remain spiritually and emotionally wounded. At the heart of this wound is the reality that somewhere in the recesses of their heart and soul (even though often aggressively repressed and denied), there is a deep hunger to acknowledge, love and care for this child.

In addition, the abortion experience is often one of great conflict. There can be some intense feelings of anger, betrayal, bitterness and hatred of self and others for being put in the position of making this desperate decision.

Returning to the sacrament of reconciliation and the phenomena of repeat confession, a few points to consider:

Because of the complicated and intense feelings around the abortion event, there is a need for safe way to process those feelings in a supportive faith filled environment developed for those with abortion loss, such as a Rachel's Vineyard Retreat. Without this opportunity to empty the heart of this toxic pain, there is difficulty for the wounded person to embrace the forgiveness and grace of the sacrament. Penitents remain forgiven and reconciled with the Church and the Lord after confession...but they may still struggle with other post abortion symptoms and accepting this forgiveness. The healing process allows mothers and fathers, as Dr Burke says, to empty the heart of their abortion pain and make room for the grace of the sacrament.

Dr Burke also teaches that this repeat confession, without the experience of an abortion healing program, can be understood as a parent's desperate attempt to remain connected to their unborn child. They are crying out for the need for a healing process where they can safely access their painful experience, and have a loving encounter with the child lost to abortion.

The Importance of the Healing Process

The Rachel's Vineyard program features grief work in a group setting, with the loving support of the retreat team and other participants, and within that process an opportunity to receive the sacraments of Eucharist and Reconciliation. The weekend program acts to cleanse the heart damaged by abortion. Now a mother or father is free to welcome their unborn child into their lives with love. They can develop a spiritual relationship with their child, and embrace the sure hope of being with them in eternity, God willing.

There is now no further need to continue to confess their sin of abortion.

May this Jubilee Year of Mercy call many wounded souls to embrace the mercy and forgiveness of Christ and His Church and to consider attending an abortion recovery program.

From Fr Frank Pavone:

Dear Sisters and Brothers,

The recent news about the Pope giving extra authority to priests to absolve the sin of abortion is good news, but is also causing some confusion. I will be commenting more about this in the weeks ahead, but initially it is important to understand a couple of things.

Some Catholics have wondered whether they were properly absolved in the past. Yes, you were. There is no need at all to worry about the past. Sins that have been confessed and absolved are absolved, as is any penalty that may have been incurred.

Keep in mind that many bishops had already given to their priests the full authorization to absolve both the sin and the penalty. What is being said today by the Pope is that all the priests who had not been given that authorization will now be given it. But if they didn't have it before, then they would have known that and would have told the penitent that they had to come back at a later time.

The bottom line is simple: do not worry. This is all about more mercy and peace, not less.

– Fr. Frank Pavone, National Director, Priests for Life

Pastoral Director, Rachel's Vineyard and Silent No More Awareness Campaign

CNN's Don Lemon asked Whoopi Goldberg to weigh in on Pope Francis' visit to the United States and the Catholic Church's teaching on abortion.

Goldberg, a self-described “humanist,” said, “This is the first time since probably John XXIII that I have been reinterested and reinvigorated, because this guy, you know, he read the book. He gets it.”

“This guy,” to the co-host of The View, is Pope Francis, and “the book,” is The Bible.

“So if he says, listen, I don’t think you need to be obsessed with gay people,” she continues, “I don’t think that’s what we need to be thinking about. I think we need to be thinking about how do we make our church better? How do we make our church more inclusive?”

According to Goldberg, Pope Francis said, “You know, quit hurting women’s feelings about having gotten an abortion. I don’t want women to get abortions but I understand why they do.”

Lemon further tested Goldberg’s theological knowledge of the Church’s position on abortion.

“You said, there is nothing in The Bible about abortion,” he said. “Someone would challenge you and say, ‘What about thou shall not kill?’”

“Well, if that’s the tactic we are going to take, we have to be pissed at every war and all the things we do,” Goldberg responded.

“Now, no one goes into getting an abortion like it is a party,” she continued. “You know what I mean? This is a hard decision for 97% of the women in the world to make. So you shouldn’t be beating them up, because they have had to make this terrible decision. It’s not your business that they had to make the decision.”

Like many who are more often bashing the media image of the Catholic Church while overlooking its actual teachings, Goldberg fails to separate the Church’s condemnation of the act of abortion – the taking of a human life – from the Church’s compassion for the woman in distress.

Interestingly, Lauren Duca, writing at the Huffington Post in July, asserted that Goldberg “has devolved into a human factory of the absurd.”

“Sitting on her daytime throne at The View,” Duca adds, “she churns out illogical and offensive comments with the force and regularity of one of those ball machines for people who don’t have a friend to play tennis with.”

Father Frank Pavone, national director of Priests for Life, perhaps more charitably, observes to Breitbart News the lack of logic in Goldberg’s thought process of proclaiming Pope Francis as the Church’s leader who finally “gets it.”

“By implication, Goldberg contrasts Pope Francis to Pope John Paul II - though she should not forget that Pope Francis canonized him,” he says. “It was Pope John Paul II who wrote to women who have had abortions.”

Pavone quotes Saint Pope John Paul II:

I would now like to say a special word to women who have had an abortion. The Church is aware of the many factors which may have influenced your decision, and she does not doubt that in many cases it was a painful and even shattering decision. The wound in your heart may not yet have healed. Certainly what happened was and remains terribly wrong. But do not give in to discouragement and do not lose hope. Try rather to understand what happened and face it honestly. If you have not already done so, give yourselves over with humility and trust to repentance. The Father of mercies is ready to give you his forgiveness and his peace in the Sacrament of Reconciliation. To the same Father and to his mercy you can with sure hope entrust your child. With the friendly and expert help and advice of other people, and as a result of your own painful experience, you can be among the most eloquent defenders of everyone's right to life. Through your commitment to life, whether by accepting the birth of other children or by welcoming and caring for those most in need of someone to be close to them, you will become promoters of a new way of looking at human life(The Gospel of Life, #99).

“These words not only convey the eagerness of the Church to forgive, but also the understanding of the difficult and painful circumstances that lead to an abortion,” Pavone continues. “That understanding is not something new that Pope Francis brings to the Church for the first time, and Pope Francis would be the first to say so.”

Pavone notes that women who have undergone an abortion experience pain not just from the circumstances leading up to the abortion, but also from the abortion itself.

“Those who advocate listening to and trying to understand these women need to listen to them when they tell of the pain and devastation abortion brings,” he urges.

The pastoral director of the Silent No More Awareness Campaign, Pavone observes that through this international program, both women who have had abortions and other family members can say, “I Regret My Abortion.”

“They do not say that because the Church is hurting them, but because abortion is hurting them,” he continues. “Many of them, in fact, found the faith and the Church only after they got tired of the pain of the abortion.”

Pavone's leadership in the Catholic Church's longstanding ministry to women who have had abortions is also evident in Rachel's Vineyard, the world's largest ministry for healing after abortion.

“Since the mid 1990's, this ministry has brought countless women, men, and families into a compassionate, confidential environment where they could process their experience of abortion and bring the wounds to a merciful Jesus, with the power of his Word and sacraments,” Pavone explains. “Rachel's Vineyard is officially sponsored by Catholic Dioceses around the world, as are multiple other healing programs.”

“The Church doesn't beat up on women who have had abortions,” Pavone concludes. “That's just an impression some have when they watch Whoopi Goldberg on TV.”

God loves us, he loves everyone!”

A Message of Peace –a Personal Pilgrimage of Mercy

By Theresa Burke, Ph.D.

In April 2016 there is a pilgrimage being offered in Rome, Assisi and Medugorje for alumni and leaders in Rachel's Vineyard. But for me, it will be a very special kind of pilgrimage – to retrace some steps of faith I took as a young adult. A journey to give thanks to Mary for giving birth to our Savior – and sharing gratitude to Jesus for his mercy and forgiveness lavished upon Rachel's Vineyard over the past 30 years.

In 1982, I was working in Switzerland as a ski Instructor. Once the snow melted and our physical extravaganza on the slopes were over, my sister Katie and I decided to board a train and search for some spiritual adventures! Our vagabond travel took us to many shrines and Marian Apparition sites throughout Europe. My goal was to write about my travels and learn more about my faith. When we heard our parents were planning a trip to Rome and wanted to meet up with us there, Katie and I decided to hitchhike our way out of the mountains of Portugal and Spain and find the eternal city ... and by the way, all roads don't lead to Rome!

To make a long story short, we ended up hearing about apparitions of Our Lady in Medugorje. We did not hesitate to find a way to obtain a visa in Rome then figured out a way to get there. but it was not easy. It was obvious God wanted us there despite the obstacles! We ended up being the first American Pilgrims to go to Yugoslavia to document the unfolding, dramatic story.

Many people don't know this, but it was in Lourdes, France where I had a significant conversion experience and in Medugorje that I offered my fiat to God. I remember praying to the Lord in the mountains of the small Croatian village saying: "I am jack of all trades, and master of none – but if you need anything from me in this world Jesus and Mary, I want to do it for you!" I was 22 years old.

Each night we were invited into the apparition room to film the visionaries so we could create a documentary to share the "messages of peace" for the world. At the time, the pastor was in jail and communist helicopters kept a close surveillance on the village. We managed to smuggle our video equipment and priceless footage out of the country by performing blue grass music for the border guards with my banjo and Katie's guitar – a miraculous diversion!

Our video documentary was duplicated and spread to tens of thousands of people and translated into many languages, and my articles on Medugorje hit the National News Wire and launched my writing career. When my father died, the Franciscans in Medugorje sent several priests to concelebrate his funeral mass because he was considered by them "The Father of Medugorje" in the United States. He was also a bit of a record keeping historian and well regarded for his prudence and gifts of discernment. Many writers, priests and theologians came to our home and I was privy to countless hours of conversation about miracles and the faith. My strong faith truly grew out of Marian devotion, the rosary, and the incredible faith and love of my parents and also that of my grandparents who escaped religious persecution in Slovakia and Poland.

Little did I know how God would take me up on my sincere and humble offer! In 25 years, Rachel's Vineyard has spread to over 70 countries and is run in over 22 languages! We see these miraculous programs of healing as some of the fruits of Medjugorje and the desire to serve and be a light in the darkness that allows God to do something wonderful with our lives.

My sister Katie D'Annunzio still enjoys/tolerates adventures with me. In the early days she helped baby sit when Kevin and I traveled and she works with Rachel's Vineyard full time now. Katie is a rock that has never stopped helping through all the challenges and oppositions we have faced trying to grow a ministry of mercy! Katie D'Annunzio will be joining us and we hope you will too!

Message from Pastoral Director

Dear Brothers and Sisters,

We are all still processing the wonderful visit of Pope Francis to the United States. The original purpose and main event of his visit was the World Meeting of Families, a Vatican-sponsored event held every three years in a different country and consisting of a conference of several days which explores themes of family and life, and then culminating with a weekend visit from the Holy Father.

Our ministries of Rachel's Vineyard, Silent No More, and Priests for Life had an integral role in the World Meeting of Families in Philadelphia. On Wednesday night, September 23, we conducted the international Pro-life Symposium, which filled the Grand Ballroom of the Convention Center with approximately 1500 pro-life activists, and which focused primarily on the theme of healing the family from the wounds of abortion.

This fit in nicely with the World Meeting theme this year: Love is our Mission: The Family Fully Alive. Obviously, the family cannot be fully alive unless all its children are protected and unless the wounds of abortion are healed.

Rachel's Vineyard serves people in many ways, including strengthening, healing and saving family life, of which nothing is more destructive than abortion. May the work of this Vineyard continue to grow and serve countless people around the world!

Sincerely,
Fr. Frank Pavone
Pastoral Director, Rachel's Vineyard Ministries
National Director, Priests for Life

United in Prayer

Please pray for Lairen Vogan, Executive Assistant at Rachel's Vineyard and her husband, Ian, as they are expecting their first child in March 2016. They are overjoyed and would appreciate your prayers for a healthy delivery and baby.

Please join us in praying for, Celia Ryan. She has been diagnosed with advanced lung cancer which has metastasized to her brain. Celia has served as a therapist and team member on Rachel's Vineyard teams in many locations including Washington, DC. She has also taught at many of Leadership conferences and is a beloved friend to many. Lord, please hold Celia in your arms and grant her a miracle of healing in whatever she needs during this difficult journey. If you would like to reach out to Celia you can do so by mail or email: 4759 Lightkeeper's Way #14-A Little River SC 29566-7988 celiaryan@griefworks.com

Please pray for, Joan Bartolomei, member of the Trenton, NJ Rachel's Vineyard Team. In April she was diagnosed with a recurrence of breast cancer in her left breast. Initially a mastectomy was scheduled. A pre op MRI revealed a second mass in her right breast and biopsy confirmed cancer. This led to a PET scan which showed right lung involvement, also confirmed by biopsy. She is also scheduled for a couple more tests to determine if there is cancer elsewhere. The oncologist has enough info to begin a course of hormone therapy treatment shown to be effective with this type of cancer in post menopausal women. She will be monitored closely with meds altered as needed. Chemo is likely in the future when cancer outsmarts the medications, but that could be several months or a few years away. Joan and her husband Tom feel blessed to have a wall of love and prayer. She is in good hands - God's and his instruments at Penn Medicine. Please keep Joan and her family in your prayers.

Please pray for Janet Kormish, who left this world on September 16, 2015 after a diagnosis of liver cancer. We ask you to remember her family in your prayers: Her 5 children and 13 grandchildren, and 2 great grandchildren, that they be comforted and consoled as they grieve her loss. Janet brought Rachel's Vineyard Ministries and Grief to Grace Ministries to Kelowna, British Columbia. She was an extraordinary leader, mentor and friend to many in our ministry and had a profound trust and love of Jesus that she shared so intimately with all those who knew her. She will be deeply missed. Next month we will have a special article about her in Vine and Branches written by Theresa Burke, who traveled to see her and spend time with her the week she died as she prepared to meet her beloved Lord and all the children she helped reunite with their mommies and daddies.
