

Female 1: - a lot of people consider later 20 weeks.

Female 2: Good afternoon, Women's Med. This is Katie. How can I help you?

Caller: Yeah. Do you guys do abortions after 20 weeks of pregnancy?

Female 2: After 20 weeks?

Caller: Yes.

Female 2: We go up to 21 weeks and 6 days.

Caller: Oh, okay. I was wondering – I am 20 weeks pregnant, but is there like a law that says that I have to have something wrong with me or the baby in order to have it after the 20 week mark?

Female 2: Um, I know that Ohio law we don't go over 21 weeks and 6 days.

Caller: Right. Well, I mean if I'm over 20 weeks, like, can I still have the abortion if I'm healthy and the baby's healthy?

Female 2: If you're over 20 weeks?

Caller: Yeah.

Female 2: As long as you're not 21 weeks and 6 days we can still do it.

Caller: Oh. Okay. Okay.

Female 2: If you're – like, yeah, if you're at 21 weeks and 6 days we can still do that, but that doesn't matter if you're 20 weeks.

Caller: Okay. So as long as I'm not over the 21 weeks and 6 days you guys can do it?

Female 2: Yeah. There doesn't have to really be like something wrong with the baby or anything.

Caller: Okay. How much does the procedure cost if I'm like, say, between like the 20 and 21 week mark?

Female 2: Okay. There is funding available through the National Abortion Federation that may be able to help with a portion of it, but without funding it would be $2,400.00.

[End of Audio]