Text regarding those being honored:

[Name, title, organization] and other key leaders in the pregnancy center movement will be honored and receive a pro-life recognition award at the National Prayer Service on the morning of the March for Life in Washington, D.C., Friday, January 20, 2023 at historic Constitution Hall, 1776 D Street NW, at 18th Street. For those who wish, there will be a Catholic Mass at 7:30 a.m. The interdenominational prayer service will be from 8:30-10:30 a.m. Clergy from numerous denominations will join Pro-Life Leader Frank Pavone, National Director of Priests for Life who will deliver a powerful pro-life message. Mike Donehey of Tenth Avenue North will lead us in song. Being held just two days before the 50-year mark since Roe vs. Wade, we will celebrate the reversal of that decision and the end of that tragic chapter of American life. The pregnancy centers are such a key aspect of the pro-life movement, and the way in which so many of you are involved in saving the unborn and helping their families. And we know the attacks to which the centers have been subject by the pro-abortion forces both physically and legislatively. The event is sponsored by Priests for Life, the National Pro-Life Religious Council, National Institute of Family and Life Advocates and Life Issues Institute. Join us to honor those in the pregnancy center movement and to pray and worship together as we prepare to go out and march in defense of the most defenseless among us. Tickets are not required, admission is free and large groups are welcome. For more information go to NationalPrayerService.com.
