Make sure to vote in your state's primaries!

The primaries for the 2026 midterm elections are well under way, and this month alone will see primaries or runoff elections in 19 states.

If you are unsure when your state's primary elections are taking place, go www.StateElectionCalendar.org.

It's very important at this point in the election cycle to ensure that your voter registration is valid and up to date. It's very easy to check at CheckYourVoterRegistration.com. Simply select your state from the drop-down menu and then fill in your name and birthdate to see if all your information is current and that you are marked "active."

Make sure to tell all your family members and friends to do this as well.

While you need to be 18 years old in order to vote, some states will allow teens to register before their 18th birthday in order to be ready.

College students have the choice of voting in their college towns or their hometowns. They just have to be sure to register correctly. Those who choose to vote in their hometowns can either go home to vote or request an absentee ballot. This decision should be made based on where their vote can be more helpful in shifting a close race.

Every vote is going to count in this election. The Democrat Party hates America and cannot be allowed to win any more elections.

Course on Pro-life Spirituality

Prolife Leader Frank Pavone, National Director, Priests for Life has just completed taping a mini-course that will be part of the online school coordinated by Catholic Online (Catholic.org). The third course that Priests for Life has provided for the school, this latest one is about prolife as a spirituality, and focuses on the training program in prolife spirituality that Priests for Life has developed, called the "Missionaries of the Gospel of Life."

This course explores how the effort to protect the unborn from abortion is not only a cause or movement, but a spirituality, and how that spirituality is taught and lived by the Missionaries of the Gospel of Life, a training program of Priests for Life.

The six lessons are as follows:

1. The Pro-life Movement Rooted in Faith - This lesson gives an overview of how pro-life activity flows from and leads back to our Faith.
2. Life: The Foundational Right - This lesson explains why the right to life is the most fundamental right of all.
3. The Mission of Pro-life Spirituality - This lesson explains the mission of a pro-life missionary.
4. The Virtues of a Pro-life Spirituality: Compassion and Solidarity - This lesson explains some of the virtues that shape our Christian pro-life activity.
5. More Virtues of a Pro-life Spirituality - This lesson explains additional virtues that should shape our pro-life activity.
6. Disciplines and Characteristics of Pro-life Spirituality - This lesson explains the disciplines and characteristics of the spirituality of the Missionaries of the Gospel of Life.

America 250 and the Unalienable Right to Life

*Bill Federer, Author, President of American Minute, Inc.
Pro-life Leader Frank Pavone, National Director, Priests for Life*

In celebrating her 250th birthday, America is celebrating the adoption of the Declaration of Independence, a document that lays out with clarity the principles and self-evident truths on which our Republic is based.

Our Founders declared God as the source of our unalienable rights, starting with the right to life itself, and further declared that governments are instituted to secure those rights.

George Washington wrote to Tench Tilghman, "I shall persevere ... so as to make that peace and independence, which we have fought for and obtained, a blessing to the millions yet unborn" (April 24, 1783).

And those unborn, according to the Founders, included those in the womb. James Wilson, signer of the Declaration and the Constitution, and a Supreme Court Justice, wrote, "With consistency, beautiful and undeviating, human life, from its commencement to its close, is protected by the common law ... Life begins when the infant is first able to stir in the womb. By the law, life is protected." (Lectures on Law (1789 to 1791), Part 2, Chapter XII Of The Natural Rights Of Individuals 69).

This right to life has been under unprecedented attack in the last five decades by an organized and well-funded movement in favor of abortion. By declaring an act that takes life to be a fundamental right that the government must uphold, the duty of government

Prayer in Thanksgiving for 250 Years of Our Nation's Independence

God our Father, your Son Jesus spoke to us a message of peace and taught us to live as brothers and sisters.

His message took form in the vision of our Founding Fathers, as they fashioned a nation where all people might live as one.

This message lives on in our midst as a task for us today and a promise for tomorrow.

As we observe the 250th anniversary of our independence, We thank you, Father, for your blessings in the past, and for all that, with your help, we must yet achieve.

Bless our nation and bless each of us.

As we thank you for our freedom, may we extend its blessings to our youngest brothers and sisters, the children in the womb.

Hasten the day when our nation will be a nation with liberty and justice, not just for some, but for all, through Christ our Lord. Amen.

to secure the right to life has been turned on its head.

From 1973 to 2022, American jurisprudence on abortion was dominated by Roe vs. Wade and the notion that somehow it was unconstitutional to protect children in the womb prior to viability.

It is no exaggeration to say that Roe v. Wade established a different form of government in America.

Whereas the Declaration says that the right to life comes from God and must be secured by government, Roe said that this right comes from government and can be taken away by government.

Roe discarded the uniqueness of America and reverted to the discriminatory principles on which many other regimes were built: pre-revolutionary France on inherited estate and privilege, Spanish imperial rule on blood purity and caste hierarchy, Russia on serfdom, Nazi Germany on racial citizenship, and apartheid South Africa on statutory racial subordination.

Early Zhou China was openly stratified. Britannica describes the Zhou feudal system as a ranked society in which rulers and ministers formed a superior class, the "shi" an intermediate class, and commoners and enslaved people an inferior class.

Legal abortion brings this back, and destroys the foundations of our Republic. Our founders were willing to sacrifice their prosperity for their posterity, pledging their "lives...fortunes and... sacred honor" for a generation yet unborn. Yet today, tragically, some are doing the opposite, sacrificing their posterity for prosperity.

One of the most striking, bold and sobering paragraphs ever written on this topic is the 20th paragraph of Pope John Paul II's encyclical Evangelium Vitae (The Gospel of Life).

He maintains that a process whereby the right to life, which is the condition for all other rights, no longer applies to the youngest human beings makes all rights negotiable. "The appearance of the strictest respect for legality is maintained Really, what we have here is only the tragic caricature of legality; the democratic ideal, which is only truly such when it acknowledges and safeguards the dignity of every human person, is betrayed in its very foundations: How is it still possible to speak of the dignity of every human person when the killing of the weakest and most innocent is permitted?"

Along with this, he has some of the strongest words ever written about what happens when the state legalizes abortion:

"In this way democracy, contradicting its own principles, effectively moves towards a form of totalitarianism. The State is no longer the 'common home' where all can live together on the basis of principles of fundamental equality, but is transformed into a tyrant State, which arrogates to itself the right to dispose of the life of the weakest and most defenseless members ... When this happens, ... the disintegration of the State itself has already begun. To claim the right to abortion... means to attribute to human freedom a perverse and evil significance: that of an absolute power over others and against others. This is the death of true freedom."

John Paul's contemporary, Ronald Reagan, said it in his own words: "We cannot diminish the value of one category of human life -- the unborn -- without diminishing the value of all human life" - "Abortion and the Conscience of the Nation" (The Human Life Review, 1983).

And President Trump urged, "Let us work together to build a culture that cherishes innocent life. And let us reaffirm a fundamental truth: all children - born and unborn - are made in the holy image of God" (State of the Union Address, February 5, 2019).

Now, of course, Roe has been overturned by the Dobbs decision, returning abortion policy to the people and their elected representatives. The timing is perfect, as those people and representatives have the opportunity to again study, appreciate, and apply that 250-year-old birth certificate that reminds us exactly what the right to life is: unalienable.

Only then can our freedom be real.

Trump Ushers In Golden Age for Life

By Frank Pavone, National Director, Priests for Life

Some in the pro-life movement are increasingly agitated at various obstacles in the way of goals we all share, whether ending chemical abortion or ending abortion funding.

But there's strongly encouraging news in the big picture. Our movement, just like our country itself, is experiencing the beginning of a Golden Age right now.

As we celebrate America's 250th birthday, we are witnessing an unprecedented protection of the tools we need to do pro-life work, and a similarly unparalleled demolishing of the tools the other side has relied on for decades.

Put another way, freedom is on the rise and tyranny is on the run.

One example is that freedom of speech is being defended more effectively in America than it ever has, with the Trump administration using funding as a pressure point to underscore that conservative Americans will no longer be silenced.

He is doing this in the world of media, on campuses, in the workplace, in social media, and on the streets.

He's also doing it in the Churches. Among those newly freed from the shackles of silence are the nation's clergy. Just recently, President Trump referred to an executive order he signed four months after being inaugurated the first time that removed the gags from clergy who for decades worried too much about their churches' tax-exempt status.

During the National Prayer Breakfast in D.C., the president said: "People like me and like a lot of people, they want to hear ministers. They want to hear from priests. They want to hear from them. And you were restricted from talking about very important things, like who to elect."

The president also established by executive order a task force to eradicate anti-Christian bias, a bias aimed squarely at the heart of the pro-life movement during the Biden administration, as Trump noted in the order:

"The previous administration engaged in an egregious pattern of targeting peaceful Christians, while ignoring violent, anti-Christian offenses. The Biden Department of Justice sought to squelch faith in the public square by bringing federal criminal charges and obtaining in numerous cases multi-year prison sentences against nearly two dozen peaceful pro-life Christians for praying and demonstrating outside abortion facilities."

Right after he was inaugurated, he pardoned all the pro-lifers serving time in federal prison. Others who were arrested and awaiting trial have seen their charges dismissed.

The president also has taken the media and academia to task - and to court - for its bias against him and against conservative Americans. Paramount Global, the parent of CBS, settled a lawsuit with the president for

$16 million after the news outlet edited an interview with Vice President - and presidential candidate - Kamala Harris to make it seem like she could put two sentences together - which she couldn't!

CBS also agreed to publish the full transcripts of every presidential candidate going forward. That puts other media outlets on notice that what they've been getting away with for decades isn't going to be tolerated anymore. That's a victory for our movement.

The president also has stood up for female athletes who have been losing titles and scholarships to biological males pretending to be females. Although it might not seem so on the surface, the transgender ideology is linked directly to our movement. Why can't a nominee to the U.S. Supreme Court define what a woman is? Because for over 50 years, that same Court has claimed ignorance as to what a human being is!

Decades of abortion advocates claiming a baby isn't a baby makes it easy for those same people to say a man is not a man and a woman is not a woman. Denying the biological reality of the unborn spawned the transgender madness that, thankfully, is in retreat under Trump.

A bill before Congress now, and supported by the president is the Safeguard American Voter Eligibility Act - or SAVE America Act - which would ensure that only American citizens can vote in federal elections by showing proof of citizenship while registering to vote, and photo ID at the polls.

"If you apply for that job you need to show two original forms of ID and a Social Security card," Trump said. "Yet they don't want identification for the greatest privilege of all: Voting in America."

Securing elections is absolutely a pro-life issue. Think about it: Who benefits from cheating in an election? Pro-abortion candidates, otherwise known as Democrats.

To end abortion, we have to elect pro-life candidates and making sure our elections are secure is a major step in the right direction.

As a final example of this golden moment for pro-life, the United States has pulled out recently from 66 international agencies, which tend to be pro-abortion and some of which fund abortion. Thirty-one of them are United Nations agencies and they are some of the biggest bulwarks the pro-abortion movement has relied on. Without U.S. funding, these groups won't be able to impose their agenda anymore, here and in other countries trying to protect the unborn.

In 2024, believers in America voted knowing that it was not merely an election between two candidates; it was a choice between good and evil. We won, and that's why we are enjoying this golden moment.

Now we have to win again, decisively, in November's midterms, to keep this momentum going. And we will.
