Here is the platform of the Democrat Party:

Friends, the choice in the 2020 Elections could not be clearer and easier for us or for the Church. The fact that the Democrat Party, all up and down the ticket, on the federal and state level, endorse and want us to fund this killing of children disqualifies them for consideration.

- Moreover, this election is the choice between
- Mob rule or the rule of law
- Collectivism or individual rights
- Socialism or capitalism
- Strengthening bureaucracy or strengthening the family
- Judicial Activism or the Constitution
- Open borders or national security
- Poverty or Prosperity

This is no time for silence.

New Plans for Evening Programming on EndAbortion.TV

Priests for Life has added a special lineup of evening programming at EndAbortion.TV and on the streaming platforms linked there (including the top social media platforms).

This new lineup features in-depth teachings and commentary by National Director Father Frank Pavone, and guest appearances by other leaders. A special emphasis on the elections, and a lot of interchange with the audience, including special supplementary materials for which viewers can sign up, will characterize the broadcasts.

Mondays and Wednesdays – “Pro-life Elections 2020.” These programs will be hard-hitting, detailed presentations and discussions about how to educate and mobilize voters. The programs are available to everyone, and those viewers who want extra follow-up information and materials about the elections can sign up by emailing Vote@PriestsForLife.org.

Tuesdays, and Fridays – “Pro-life Prime Time.” These programs will include teachings about abortion and the pro-life movement, a toolkit of pro-life projects and activities, the work of Priests for Life, pro-life spirituality, and news and commentary on developments in the battle to protect the unborn.

Thursdays – “The Light: Pro-life and Scripture.” Father Frank will delve into how the Scriptures illuminate and shape our commitment to defend the unborn.

Saturdays - “Saturday Night LIVE with Fr. Frank.” This show will provide viewers the opportunity to discuss with Father Frank a variety of issues regarding the pro-life movement, the Church, his personal journey to the priesthood and dedication to full-time pro-life ministry. Special programs devoted to prayer also will be featured.

Sundays – "Ask Me Anything." These programs will deal with any and all topics, questions, and comments that viewers want to discuss with Fr. Frank.

Along with this special evening lineup, our daytime programming schedule, found at EndAbortion.TV, will continue to feature the daily Mass at 10 a.m. ET (repeating at 6 p.m.), the Rosary and Divine Mercy chaplet at 3 p.m., "The Janet Morana Show" at 3:30 p.m. (Monday, Tuesday, Thursday and Friday) and "Pro-Life Praise with Evangelist Alveda King" on every Wednesday at 3:30 p.m. Frequent live adoration of the Blessed Sacrament is also provided on our channels.

Viewers are encouraged to share and download the programs and promote them within their Churches and organizations!

Please Note: Once Fr. Frank's travel schedule resumes, of course, there will need to be changes in the schedule. So please make sure you consult the schedule at EndAbortion.TV.

Creator of "Precious Feet" dies at 99

It was Jan. 22, 1974, the first anniversary of Roe v. Wade, when Virginia Evers opened the San Diego Union to find a full-page ad showing a photo of a man's fingers grasping the tiny, perfectly formed feet of a baby aborted at 10 weeks. The photo was taken four years earlier by a young physician in Oregon, Dr. Russell Sacco, whose colleague had shown him the remains of aborted babies.

"The picture haunted me," Virginia Evers recalled later in explaining what led her to create the Precious Feet pin that became the international symbol of the pro-life movement.

Mrs. Evers died in Chandler, AZ, July 17, just two months shy of her 100th birthday.

"She spread the pro-life message until her last breath," said her daughter, Dinah Monahan.

Virginia, a devout Catholic, and her husband, Ellis, founded Heritage House 76, a company that distributed patriotic jewelry and materials, and were very involved in pro-life efforts.

When Mrs. Evers saw Dr. Sacco’s photo she was moved to create a lapel pin of those feet. Through Heritage House, tens of millions of Precious Feet have been distributed around the world, becoming the international symbol of the pro-life movement.

In the late 1980s, when Father Frank Pavone was a priest at St. Charles Church in Staten Island, and Janet Morana was one of his parishioners, they began ordering the Precious Feet for all their pro-life events.

When Father Pavone became the national director of Priests for Life in 1993, the ministry became a very good customer of Heritage House and met the Evers and the Monahans – Dinah and her husband, Mike, who took over the business when the Evers’s retired. Heritage House created various versions of the Precious Feet pin, including one with pink and blue ribbons, an idea Janet developed at St. Charles.

Mike Monahan died in 2016 and the couple’s son, Brandon, now runs Heritage House. The Precious Feet are still available but Mrs. Monahan worries that younger generations of pro-lifers haven’t fully grasped the importance of this heartbreaking and tangible reminder of the humanity of abortion victims.

“The Precious Feet are due for a resurgence,” she said.
