Democrat Extremism

In 2018, Dinesh D'Souza came out with a film called "Death of A Nation." His book is of the same name. It is a must-watch and must-read for anyone who wants to understand the current political dynamics of the United States of America and cares about her future. It is carefully researched and shows the roots of the Democrat Party in the Nazi Party and the slave Plantation.

This year, he came out with the movie "Trump Card", which is an exposé of the socialism, corruption and gangsterization that now define the Democratic Party. Another must-watch.

The Catholic Church has strongly condemned socialism for a long time, and the nations where it has been tried have turned into an utter failure, disastrous for their people. In Catholic social teaching, which is summarized authoritatively in the Compendium of the Social Doctrine of the Church, a book-length Vatican document released in 2005 under St. John Paul II, the state exists for the human person, and not the other way around.

Policies advanced by the Democrat Party in our day, however, turn that teaching upside-down. The Party and its positions make it more difficult for parents to choose what schools their children attend, for patients to choose their health care, for entrepreneurs to choose their businesses, and even for religious groups to choose their ministries.

President Trump and the Church: Policies that Advance our Teachings and Values

The presidency of Donald J. Trump is historic in numerous ways, including in how it protects the Church, and all religious believers, and advances the protection of the values we hold.

Here are just a few examples; you can find these and more, with reference notes, at ProLifePresident.com.

Catholics, because we love our Church, are grateful that President Trump protected dioceses, Catholic schools, and countless ministries in numerous ways from having to choose between breaking the law or violating their faith. As one example, President Trump expanded the exemptions from the Obama-Biden HHS mandate.

Catholics, because we believe in prayer and free speech, are grateful that President Trump has taken action to increase the freedom of our children to pray in Democrats, moreover, have become globalists, pushing for open borders and diluting the very identity of the nation, which now they consider something to be ashamed of rather than celebrated.

When it comes to abortion, the Democrats, in the Congress now ending, introduced the “Women’s Health Protection Act” (HR 2975), which would eliminate the most reasonable restrictions on abortion including

- Laws that require abortionists to consult the parents of a minor who wants an abortion;
- Laws that require abortionists to let the young mom see her baby on ultrasound, or give information to her about the development of her baby, the risks of abortion, and the alternatives she has;
- Laws that require abortion facilities to increase their health and safety measures for the protection of the women who use them;
- Laws that prohibit abortions based on sex discrimination, racial discrimination, or disability

And that’s just some of the story.

Bills like this, and other extreme measures to which the Democrats are always committed, would solidify in the law the extreme approach that the courts have taken when they advance abortion without any limits, and claim not only that the woman has a “right” to abortion, but that the abortionist has a “right” to perform them, therefore making it harder for states to regulate it.

The American people have never accepted these positions, and we must continue to be vigilant against such efforts from the other side.

school, our college students to speak about their faith and values on campus, and our clergy to speak their mind in the pulpit, without fear of retribution.

Catholics, because we embrace immigrants, are grateful that the President is implementing the balanced view of immigration articulated in the Catechism (n.2241) that not only welcomes immigrants generously, but enables our country to welcome them legally, with safeguards that protect them as well as those already here.

Catholics, because we protect our children, are grateful that the safety of children in our schools is being strengthened by the President’s Title IX enforcement to combat sexual assault in K-12 public schools.

Catholics, because we appreciate Catholic education, are grateful for President Trump’s support of the choice of parents to send their children to Catholic schools if they so choose, and the help he believes they deserve in order to do that.

Catholics, because we love the poor, are grateful that under President Trump, the poverty level in America fell to a 17-year low, that millions were taken off food stamps, and that millions previously unemployed were able to obtain jobs at an unprecedented level.

Catholics, because we support human dignity, are grateful for what the President has done to combat drug abuse and human trafficking, dismantling some 3,000 drug trafficking organizations and more than doubling the number of convictions for human trafficking.

Catholics, because we know and appreciate our spiritual heritage with our Jewish brothers and sisters, are grateful to President Trump for recognizing Jerusalem as Israel's capital, moving our embassy there, recognizing Israel's sovereignty over the Golan Heights, and securing the first Middle East peace accord in 25 years.

Catholics, because we believe God's law is higher than man's law, are grateful to President Trump for appointing over 230 federal judges who, in court cases affecting our children's children decades from now, will be issuing decisions that recognize that it is not up to them to change the laws of nature and of nature's God.

Catholics, because of our clear social teaching, are grateful to the President for bringing our nation to the strongest and most inclusive economy it (and the world) has ever seen, its lowest unemployment rates, its highest increase in median wage, its biggest tax and regulatory cuts, and the positive effect this has on families.

Catholics, because we oppose terrorism, are grateful for the President's annihilation of the ISIS caliphate and for keeping us safe by neutralizing the world's top terrorists.

Catholics, because we are committed to advancing health, are grateful for President Trump's initiative to end the HIV/AIDS epidemic within ten years.

Catholics, because we speak for the unborn, are grateful for the President's effort to protect "unborn children, the most defenseless and innocent among us." (Pope Francis, Evangelii Gaudium, November, 2013).

Catholics, because we love our country, are proud that America is now energy independent, no longer needing to rely on other countries for our oil, and is a net exporter of natural gas for the first time since 1957.

Catholics, because we believe in law and order, are grateful for President Trump's action to restore peace to our cities and to support law enforcement.

Catholics, because we oppose corruption, are grateful for President Trump's actions to expose and eliminate fraud and promote integrity and transparency in government bureaucracies, in health insurance companies, in the Veterans Administration, and in international relations.

Catholics, because our Church rejects socialism, are grateful for President Trump's commitment that America will never be a socialist country.

Catholics, because we believe in fairness, are grateful that the President has replaced unfair trade deals that put our country at a disadvantage and stole our jobs, with new and fair ones that bless our economy.

Catholics, because we believe in conscience, are grateful for the President's establishment of a Division for Conscience and Religious Freedom that is processing hundreds of complaints and defending Catholics and other believers who feel their consciences are being violated in the workplace.

This is only a partial list of the ways that the Trump administration advances the interests of the Church. Let's continue to make the faithful aware of these accomplishments and, through our faithful citizenship, continue to work to build on them!
