Pro-lifers express support for Priests for Life National Director at March, Walk for Life

Everywhere he went during the March for Life and its related activities in Washington, D.C., Pro-Life Leader Frank Pavone received messages of support - and more than a few standing ovations.

Prolife Leader Frank Pavone marched with the Most Rev. Salvatore Cordileone, Archbishop of San Francisco at the Walk for Life West Coast.

The crowd leapt to its feet at the Vans for Life dinner, when organizer Susan Perez, spoke tearfully about the Vatican's incomprehensible decision to take away the priesthood of the world's most visible pro-life priest.

Hundreds in attendance at the National Prayer Service at Constitution Hall also rose to applaud the longtime leader whose devotion to ending abortion has never wavered since he was a teenager attending his first March for Life in 1976.

The Priests for Life team and Pavone went to the Basilica of the National Shrine of the Immaculate Conception to network before the annual National Vigil for Life the night before the March and steady streams of people told him, "You will always be Fr. Frank to me."

At the Priests for Life booths at the March for Life Expo and the National Summit sponsored by Students for Life, countless visitors told Priests for Life staffers that they love and support our national director.

At the March itself, and the Walk for Life West Coast the next day in San Francisco, literally hundreds of well-wishers took selfies with him and told him they were outraged at what happened but happy to hear he wasn't going to let it change his mission of making abortion unthinkable.

At the Walk for Life, after speaking to the crowd at the Plaza for the Silent No More gathering, he marched shoulder-to-shoulder with San Francisco Archbishop Salvatore Cordileone, the prelate who told Nancy Pelosi that she is no longer able to receive communion in the archdiocese. Also, Walk for Life organizer Eva Muntean asked Pavone to give closing remarks at the leaders' dinner.

Priests for Life sent a team of 16 to the March for Life in Washington, D.C., for what turned out to be one of the most successful pro-life events we've taken part in.

The day before the March, we led a prayer service outside

Frank Pavone and Bryan Kemper spoke at a protest of CVS selling abortion drugs.

Planned Parenthood that attracted several hundred. National Director Frank Pavone and Bryan Kemper, coordinator of street activism, addressed the crowd, as did several national pro-life leaders.

That night, Pavone gave the closing prayer at the Vans for Life dinner at the Museum of the Bible, where keynote speaker Kirk Cameron moved the crowd with the story of his six children, including four who were adopted.

On the morning of the March, we hosted, along with the National Pro-Life Religious Council, the 28th annual National Prayer Service at DAR Constitution Hall. Pioneers of the pregnancy help movement were honored.

Pavone and several staffers were in the VIP tent for the March for Life Rally, while Theresa Watson and Leslie Palma, hosts of Pro-Life PrimeTime News, did interviews in the media tent, along with intern John Thomas.

Executive Director Janet Morana was with 15 members of the Silent No More Awareness Campaign as they gave their testimonies of abortion regret outside the Supreme Court. Janet is the co-founder of Silent No More, with Georgette Forney, president of Anglicans for Life.

After the testimonies, Pavone and Kemper rushed to the airport for a flight to San Francisco, where they attended the West Coast Walk for Life the next day.

In addition to a Priests for Life booth at the March Expo, we also had exhibits at the Cardinal O'Connor Conference at Georgetown University, and at the National Summit sponsored by Students for Life in D.C.

Finally, on Sunday, Jan. 22, the 50th anniversary of the Roe v. Wade decision, Priests for Life and Silent No More joined Stanton Public Policy Center/Purple Sash Revolution and Faith & Liberty to host a prayer service outside the Supreme Court to mourn the 65 million children killed by legal abortion in our nation.

Janet Morana and Frank Pavone spoke at the Law of Life Summit as part of the March for Life program.

Praise for our Work

"Fr. Frank once said to me he wished he could hire someone to sleep for him. At the time, I laughed and thought, "I'll take that job!" But the more I got to know Fr. Frank, he was serious. He uses every waking minute of the day trying to figure out ways to save more babies. He is the most dedicated priest I know to the pro-life movement and he is truly an inspiration. God Bless you and your ministry Fr. Frank!" - In Christ, Heather (Former Priests for Life Employee)

Eva Muntean, Co-founder of the Walk for Life West Coast invited Frank Pavone to speak at the dinner after the Walk.
