A New Administration: Prayer and Strategic Priorities

As we begin the second Trump Administration, we rejoice as patriots, proliferators, and believers. As patriots, we rejoice that the 2024 election has literally saved us from a political party that hates America. (If you have any doubt, read Mark Levin's book The Democrat Party Hates America.)

As pro-life people, we rejoice that our ability to protect the unborn will be preserved. Laws won't be passed to impose abortion-on-demand on America or make us pay for it. Judges won't be appointed who will try to impose the outdated and erroneous concept of a federal "constitutional right to abortion." Peaceful pro-life activists won't be arbitrarily arrested and unjustly imprisoned. And the tools we need to protect the unborn, like freedom of speech, will be protected and strengthened.

As believers, we rejoice that the 2024 election preserves our religious freedom, both at home and abroad, both in the Church and in the workplace. The Democrat Party remains an enemy of the Church, though many Church leaders still don't even recognize that. Just study how they define discrimination

The Eucharist and Abortion

During this time that the Church in the USA is focusing on fostering Eucharistic devotion, check out EucharistAndProLife.com to learn about how this wondrous sacrament inspires and informs our commitment to protect the unborn from abortion.

In the Eucharist, for instance, we see beyond appearances. Every speck of the host is Jesus. So we see beyond appearances and acknowledge the baby in the womb as our brother, our sister, right from conception.

Our National Director, Frank Pavone, and Bob Unanue, President and CEO of Goya Foods, were among hundreds of Trump supporters at Mar-a-Lago the week after Election Day to celebrate and to participate in policy discussions to protect and advance our values.

Taking Aim at Forced Abortion

Amidst all the misguided talk about "reproductive freedom," most neither know nor acknowledge that some 60% of abortions in America are coerced abortions. Dr. David Reardon's research showing this is publicly available, as is the work of the Center Against Forced Abortions, run by The Justice Foundation. (Research links can be found at our site, WhatFollowsAbortion.org.)

Join Silent No More at March for Life and Walk for Life this Month

Mothers and fathers who have lost children to abortion and have been through a healing program are invited to join the Silent No More Awareness Campaign this month at the March for Life in Washington, D.C. on Jan. 24 and the Walk for Life West Coast in San Francisco on Jan. 25.

Since 2003, these courageous women and men who regret choosing abortion have given their testimonies as a way to reach others who might be suffering in silence after abortion, and to let young women and men who might be considering abortion know there are alternatives.

At the March and Walk, Silent No More members carry signs along the route that say "I Regret My Abortion" and "I Regret Lost Fatherhood." At the conclusion of the March, testimonies are given in front of the U.S. Supreme Court Building. In San Francisco, the testimonies precede the Walk.

Those who would prefer not to speak publicly are still welcome to join the campaign. Go to SilentNoMore.com and click on "Join Us" on the right side of the home page.

Latin America Conference Caps a Year of Growth for Rachel's Vineyard

The year 2024 was a beautiful year of growth for Rachel's Vineyard, with more than 300 healing retreats offered around the world!

Nationally, new retreat sites, and sites in development, began in California, New Jersey, Florida and Mississippi. International growth included Mexico, Cameroon, Guatemala, Canada, Russia and Spain.

Our presence in the Latino community has grown exponentially over the last few years. This growth created the demand for training and resources to assist our Spanish teams in ministering to those in need of healing.

In November, Rachel's Vineyard held a Latin American Leadership Conference in Bogota, Colombia, with Kelly Dunne from the ministry's Pennsylvania headquarters traveling to Bogota to serve as liaison. With the help of some wonderful volunteers, founder Dr. Theresa Burke's trainings and hand-outs were translated into Spanish. Kelly presented in-person, while Theresa attended the conference via Zoom.

Rachel's Vineyard, a ministry of Priests for Life, looks forward to continued growth this year. Please see RachelsVineyard.org for more information and for the 2024 annual report.

A New Administration: Prayer and Strategic Priorities

or how they treat the Religious Freedom Restoration Act.

So we have won the election. What do we do now?

There are a few key priorities, which we will continue to explain in our broadcast Praying for America on EndAbortion.TV.

First, we must pray for the transition. Opponents of Trump and the MAGA movement will try to obstruct a peaceful transition, and deep state employees who do not agree with our values will, behind the scenes, slow-walk the work of the Administration or even act contrary to their assignments. Pray for them.

Pray also for those who have been appointed to the new Administration, and for those who still need to be confirmed. Pray for the US Senate, that they may conduct their role responsibly.

Second, we must start now communicating with members of Congress to pass legislation that implements the policy changes for which we voted. These election results have given us an opportunity, not a guarantee. Let's use that opportunity to be more active citizens than we have ever been!

Stay tuned to our web page, ProLifeVote.com, and also keep informed directly from the Administration at WhiteHouse.gov once President Trump is inaugurated.

Abortions might be coerced by individuals, such as the father of the child, parents of the mother or father, employer, or doctor. Many of these examples can be read by going to the "forced abortion" section of the testimonies of our Silent No More Campaign, AbortionTestimonies.com. We even see instances of the abortionist him/herself physically restraining the tearful mom screaming on the abortion table that she has changed her mind. Coercion also comes in the form of circumstances, whether financial or relational, that make the mom feel forced to do something that she knows is wrong and does not want to do.

Yet the abortions are performed anyway, with little to no counseling provided.

Now compare this to what happens to a mom who wants to make an adoption plan. By law, many safeguards are in place to assure that this decision to waive her rights over her own child is a decision made freely, with full deliberation and several opportunities to change her mind before the decision is finalized.

This is because a mother has a fundamental right to her relationship with her child. Nobody can take that away from her, and any action by the government to do so must be regulated with the most careful guard rails against coercion.

And it is, except in the case of abortion.

There, the government hands over to third parties, i.e. Planned Parenthood and other abortion clinics, the authority to sever the relationship between the mother and her child.

And not only do they fail to screen for coercion, but they are often the source of the coercion.

The abortion industry and its proponents enthusiastically speak of "reproductive freedom," and in some states, they have written this "freedom" into the state constitutions.

But reproductive freedom includes the freedom to reproduce. If one believes there is a "right" to end one's pregnancy, then certainly we can insist there is a right to continue it.

This is where we can challenge abortion laws and use existing abortion amendments to actually stop abortions. For instance, Maryland's "Question 1," which passed in November, declares that "the fundamental right to reproductive freedom" includes the right "to prevent, continue, or end one's own pregnancy" (emphasis mine).

So having the right to continue one's pregnancy means abortions should not be forced, and protections against coercion should be provided. And if that is done, it would stop most abortions.

Utilizing the testimonies of our Silent No More Campaign, Priests for Life is challenging abortion laws and amendments on these grounds, and we expect to see major progress.
